Delhi Proposals – March 1927

- Sind should be separated from Bombay and made a separate province.
- Similar reforms, as have been introduced in other provinces be introduced in NWFP and Baluchistan.
- On these conditions the Muslims are prepared to accept joint electorate in all the provinces so constituted whereas they also agree to give similar concessions and privileges to the minorities in Sind, Baluchistan and NWFP as are agreed to be granted to the minorities in the Hindu provinces.

The Nehru Report 1928

- Under the chairmanship of Motilal Nehru, the Nehru Committee completed its task.
- Its report, commonly known as Nehru Report was presented in August 1928 to counter the charges that Indians could not find a constitutional consensus among themselves.
- This report advocated that India be given dominion status of complete internal self-government.

Motilal Nehru

'If you don't settle this question today, we shall have to settle it tomorrow, but the meantime our national interests are bound to suffer', M.A Jinnah.
